

Celebrate

Yourself!

Your life is a canvas and the colors are the
"You" that's portrayed to the world.

Life is a celebration and YOU are the guest of honor! God created all of us as unique, individual portraits of the Divine. We are all wonderfully made by God, and being wonderfully made is something to celebrate!

People who celebrate themselves paint authentic portraits of their lives using vivid colors that reflect their unique qualities. These radiant colors also reflect the happiness they feel about being themselves. They project lives grounded in the Spirit of God and the principles of love.

Does this sound like you? If not, come learn to live every day as a new celebration. We are forever painting the portrait of who we are, and it's never too late to begin again. Learn to paint the self-portrait that says you appreciate being a gift from God to the world around you.

Learn to love and appreciate the image and likeness of God that you uniquely are. In doing so, you will start attracting into your life people who also accept and love themselves as unique images of God's love.
